

Our Story

In 1951 a group of families who believed their children living with intellectual disability deserved better, came together in support of each other.

This fundamental belief in people is what continues to drive us today.

We are Activ, and we believe in you.

We believe everyone should have the same opportunities to achieve independence.

Believing in you means supporting you to achieve your independence goals and live the life you choose.

Take control of your independence

Enabling people living with disability to pursue the life they choose.

Independence

Find a place to live

Finding a place to live is a key driver for everyone's independence journey. Jacinda moved out of her family home into an Activ shared supported home and is loving her increased independence. Since the move, she's increased her independent living skills and has developed a love for cooking. Jacinda enjoys spending time with her housemates and is learning to drive. We're supporting Jacinda to reach her goal of one day living on her own.

Find a place to work

Finding a place to work is a key part of achieving independence. Hayden, who was once a supported employee, was supported to reach his goal of working in open employment for the Shire of Dardanup, and operating his own business. Hayden has since re-joined Activ... not as a supported employee, but as a leading hand. We'll support you to develop the necessary skills and confidence to achieve your career goals!
